Recording at the Element Level

- Authorized Access Points are required by MARC 21
- Authorized Access Points are required by current systems
- However, RDA is designed to work at the element level
- Linked data (BIBFRAME, etc.)

So

- Future systems may not require Authorized Access Points
- Discretely recorded elements can be retrieved, matched, linked and combined into displays
- Element-level recording is the real substance of the RDA NAR
- Elements are recorded for the present in discrete MARC 21 fields
